

Find The Perfect Scooter:

Choosing the right mobility scooter can make a world of difference to daily life, and we're here to help you find the perfect fit for your customers' needs and lifestyle.

 CONSUMER TYPE	Adventure Seeker Loves the freedom to roam far and wide — from shop aisles to forest trails. For those who are still relatively mobile but want a dependable companion for town, country, and travel.	Everyday Independent Values comfort and ease for daily routines and social outings. Perfect for people with minor mobility needs who want everyday support with extra comfort, from home or on the go.	Confidence Builder Wants a steadier ride that supports them through every journey. Made for those who like the idea of exploring more — with a bit of extra reassurance, stability and safety.	Comfort Cruiser Enjoys longer trips with a smooth, supportive ride. For those who value stability, a comfortable seat, and a planted wheelbase, with the flexibility to take the scooter apart for easy transport.

 SUMMARY	Three-wheel scooters are lightweight, easy to handle, and perfect for tight spaces. They fold down to a compact size, making them simple to store or take with you. If you need something portable and easy to move, a three-wheel scooter is a great choice.		Four-wheel scooters offer extra stability and balance, which can make them easier to drive and more forgiving if you make a mistake. They are perfect for extra confidence, longer outings or varied terrains.
